From the President's Desk

Dear Friends:

Another summer is here and some of us hope to find some extra time for work on our family research, some may even be working on putting all that information into book form. It's a real thrill to find a book already researched and published that includes some of our ancestors, but BETTER. Be sure to check out all those wonderful new names and dates. They may be absolutely correct but then again

Two months ago I was invited to the home of a distant cousin to discuss our family tree and trade information. He and his wife had been working for months on our family and I was really impressed with his office. Two computers, thousands of names and the beginnings of a book - but the sticky part was no proof. Family stories, handed down, names that "sounded like and must have been", and even a new gravestone on a grave we're not sure of and the names on it spelled wrong. I was so disappointed and tried hard to correct the names I knew were wrong, but his enthusiasm just rolled over the facts. I have to admit that I used to believe it had to be right if it was in a book, but it's scary when you see people who believe it has to be right if it's spit out of a computer.

This is the work part of research - proof. I didn't like math in school anyway, but after finally putting down an answer to a problem, having to prove or check the answer was really a boring job; and there's always the possibility that you'll prove the answer is wrong and have to start over. We all want to be descended from Charlemagne or Thomas Jefferson or Jesse James or an Indian Princess and a lot of people are; but when you can point to the proof, ahh then you can write that book!

Good hunting,

Mary Spainhour

THIRTEEN "DO's" AND "DON'Ts" FROM THE GENEALOGICAL SCHOOL OF HARD KNOCKS

1. DON'T believe everything you find in a book, even if it is represented to be an exact transcription of an original document.
2. DO date and identify the sources of your notes and sketches.
3. DO check documents for completeness. Even Archives make errors.
4. DO be prepared to have to disprove and shatter sacrosanct legends.
5. DO check for variant spellings in census indexes.
6. DO check for the same neighbors in different census years as a means of distinguishing your ancestor from others with the same name.
7. DO be on the lookout for someone who has already done much of your research.
8. DO make arrangements to have your papers stored in a public depository after you die.
9. DO develop a historical perspective of your ancestor's time and place.
10. DO look for migratory patterns and ethnic settlement tendencies.
11. DON'T be surprised if you find one or more proverbial horse thieves.
12. DON'T expect every advertising "genealogical researcher" to be professional.
13. DO budget enough time and take enough research notes if you visit an area where your ancestor lived.

HENRY HARRISON JOHNSON FAMILY

A book in my possession entitled DR. CHASE'S LAST AND COMPLETE WORKS has information about Henry Harrison JOHNSON family of Ashley County that may be of interest to members of The Ashley County Genealogical Society. The book was published in the late 1880's and appears to be a collection of doctor's remedies, recipes for various and sundry dishes and medicines, information on caring for domestic animals and just about anything else you can think of.

The book is not in good condition and the pages containing the family information cannot be xeroxed so that the handwriting shows up. It is written in a very fine handwriting. On the publishers' preface page, the name H. H. JOHNSON, NAFF, MOREHOUSE CO LA is stamped in all capital letters.

Walter Willard JOHNSON, one of the sons of Henry Harrison and Elizabeth Jane JOHNSON, was my grandfather. All of the sons mentioned on these pages are now dead but perhaps some of the other descendants are searching for this information. The following is copied from several lined pages near the center of the book labeled HOUSEHOLD MEMORANDA.
